JUNE
1939

BARRINGER HIGH SCHOOL, NEWARK, NEW JERSEY

Dream of the past, light of the present, gift for the future—we dedicate this book to our American democracy, awakened as we are to its priceless value as a political safeguard, a social blessing, and a worthy ideal for that most difficult of all human undertakings—group control.

To the Class of June, 1939:

"Barringer expects you to be outstanding during the next half-century. Intelligent effort, self control, and persistent courage will do it."

Raymond B. Gurley

To Mr. Gurley

"With effort we shall meet criticism bravely and develop our talents: with self control we shall master our feelings; with courage, like the strong, we shall not be crushed but shall face a world of greater challenge, the world of tomorrow."

Class of June, 1939

To the Class of June, 1939:

"After you leave Barringer you will have to learn by experience, a method of learning for which many of you have already shown a preference. My wish for you is that the varied experiences you encounter will lead you into intelligent citizenship in the new world which you will help create."

Elsa Disbrow

To Miss Disbrow

"We are confident that our experiences in Barringer will tend toward the success we hope to attain in the future, and that our new experiences together with our training will guide us helping to influence the world of tomorrow."

Class of June, 1939

To the Class of June, 1939:

"Yesterday our dear children; today glowing and hopeful youth; tomorrow men and women who face a grave and challenging future. May God guide you."

Ruth Stewart

To Mrs. Stewart

"May we, tomorrow's men and women, who have been cherished, scolded and guided by your motherly affection, be worthy of the confidence you have in us and the hope you have for us."

Class of June, 1939

To the Class of June, 1939:

"The spirit which in these pages lights fresh beacons along the highway of our common freedom is a precious thing. Nurture it, for while it lives, democracy too, finds new life."

Fred Landolphi

To Mr. Landolphi

Though many summers will have had their day, 'though the years will take their toll, the flame of the beacons along the highway of our common freedom will still be burning."

*4 B'S COMPLETING WORK IN SUMMER SCHOOL

In Memoriam

No mere words can express the feeling of the class toward Alice Vitale. Her impartial views, her cheerful and vivacious ways have been missed. But we can be comforted, and shall go on as before, because her spirit is ever with us.

Thanks for Everything

We take great pleasure in expressing our sincere gratitude to those members of the faculty who have assisted us in carrying our various activities to success; to Mr. Saylor for the many favors he has given us in his capacity as acting Assistant Principal; to Mrs. Burke, Mr. Vogel, Mr. Celiano, and Mr. Bruder for their presence at our dances; to Miss Capen, Mrs. Blair, and Mr. Stevens for their helpful hints on the year book; to Mr. Hofer for his amiable cooperation in coaching a part of our Class Day program; to Mrs. O'Loughlin, Miss Robinson, Miss Decker, and Mr. Weiss for their perseverance and time in preparing us for Commencement; to those of the office, especially Miss Rubin, who have aided us so willingly, and to Vincent Biunno for his invaluable assistance on the year book photography. "Thanks For Everything—"

Thalians

The Thalians of endless energy and initiative were unable to organize in time for a picture due to their strenuous work on the Cavalcade. Theirs was a fine job, well done.

CLASS SONG

1

Dear Barringer your name we sing
 As onward we must go.
 In praise our many voices ring
 Then blending soft and low.
 Smiling thru a mist of tears
 The long road ahead,
 Unafraid we face the years,
 By your courage lead.

2

Our Alma Mater tried and true
 A gateway broad to life.
 Solid stands the white and blue,
 Through struggle and thru strife.
 Last monuments too quickly fly
 As each old friend departs
 A fleeting smile, a tear, a sigh—
 But gladness in our hearts.

3

Dear Barringer we leave you now,
 Our lessons here are done.
 But we take this solemn vow,
 May life and you be one.
 We shall make forever,
 Your mesage our creed,
 "Honor, Truth, and Light" where'er
 Wand'ring footsteps lead.

* Identical Averages

Good Morning, America!

Out of the mist of lofty mountains and rolling plains, from rushing streams and surging surf, four columns arise; four strong columns standing in a stately row running from East to West. They are invisible now as always to non-believers, but a clear vision to those who believe in the spirit of Democracy. We believe, and so we see those four columns supporting the American temple of Democracy as representing our rights—freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom of self determination, and freedom to pursue happiness.

Freedom of speech—a gift whose special benefits are taken for granted in this restless world of today, and yet it allows us to speak out loud and strong, for and even against our government, and permits groups of people with various ideas to act openly in our nation. Freedom of religion—the greatest of blessings, the blessing that allows us to worship whom we want to, when we want to, and gives us the right to stay at home and worship no one God, if that suits us. Freedom of self determination—the light that brightens the path of our people, enabling them to see both sides of a political question and encouraging them to vote for their popular choice. Happiness, culmination of freedom's benefits, the acme of success for any country or individual, showing to the world at large that we, due to our freedoms, are a prosperous and contented nation, and a nation at peace with God and ourselves.

As the delicate tracings on a time-worn manuscript become indistinct through the ages, and as the precious seconds of time speed by, so too does the luster of Democracy become dull and indistinct. Only when these priceless things, which we take for granted, are gone, and are beyond our reach, do we realize their infinite value. Let us awake before it is too late. We must not forget the materials of which Democracy is made, or of the struggles we have weathered, gaining security in our endurance. We should recall to mind the message of the Magna Carta, Democracy's cornerstone, and the Democratic principles of our Declaration and Constitution. Let us not despair in these trying times of racial hatred and aggression, but look for salvation in the prophetic words of Abraham Lincoln "—these things too shall pass away—." Calm will follow strife, and our four columns will remain firm for tomorrow's nations.

As the Seasons Turned

84

Autumn 1935—

Our class was born at Barringer to live
Four years of youth and work and play and dreams.
The park in flames of Autumn's glowing fire
Was welcoming the merry throng anew.
Our destiny our Alma Mater's light,
Our colors royal blue and purest white.

Spring 1936—

Five months within the hallowed halls of home
Had brought us friends, a new outlook on life.
Exhilarating winter made a fairy scene
Of campus sleeping under downy white.
Then spring—and summer's declaration.
At last some tests; and then—
Vacation!

Autumn 1936—

Arisen to the ranks of Sophomores
We stooped to conquer Freshman innocent.
We cheered our football team to victory
And learned a bit about a foreign tongue.
We smiled our supercilious smiles and thought
Without us Barringer would be but naught.

Spring 1937—

We silly Sophomores sitting in the sun
Of Spring and Branchbrook Park and Barringer
Bethought ourselves that soon our class would be
A mighty group of labor, organized.
We struggled through our painful first exam.
And were promoted; system labeled "Cram."

Autumn 1937—

The year of Jolly Juniors had arrived.
Devoted friends we'd found and life was gay.
We organized our class, 'twas all so new;
Class officers we proudly voted in,
Advisers kind, to help us work and plan,
And soon we'd say "Today I am a man!"

Spring 1938—

Proud children of a century-old school,
We help the launching of the Cavalcade,
A celebration of one hundred years;
We held a dance, our first, a great success,
And bid adieu to you Centennial Class
As thru the portals of your school you pass.

Autumn 1938—

Our elevation to the rank of seniors
Was culminated in the Hi Jinx Hop.
Our new activities increased with speed.
Well on our way, our goal in sight
We blazed a trail so new and yet so old
4A's we'd be. The boldest of the bold.

Spring 1939—

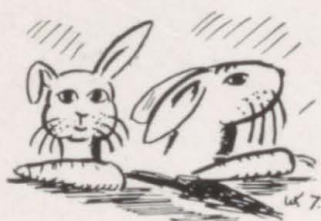

As senior "A's" we gave the March Hare Hop.
A Year Book new and ultra-smart we planned
To carve our memory in archives old,
And leave behind our monument to time.
To you who take the torch we dedicate
Traditions old and fine—we graduate.
4B's our gracious hosts one rare June night
The senior prom was held, a gala dance.
Now glorified in memory we see
That night of nights, our solemn graduation.
A toast to Barringer! her name shall be
A synonym for Honor, Truth and Loyalty.

CLASS WILL

We, the class of June, 1939, do hereby announce our last will and testament. As we leave these beloved halls we bequeath the following to our fellow inmates:

To our principal, Mr. Gurley, we leave a school full of oncoming seniors, juniors and freshmen to judge, punish and love.

To Mrs. Stewart and Mr. Landolphi, our class advisers, we leave all the kindly advice and unfailing patience that we have not consumed.

We relieve the faculty.

To the president of the 4B class we leave a wild-eyed rabble demanding the floor, ceiling, and finally his neck. We wish him luck and also leave a discount slip on a one-way ticket to Timbuktu.

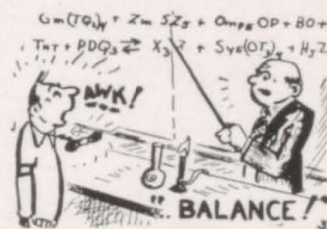

We hope Nita Hahne leaves her saddle oxfords.

We sincerely hope not to leave many of us.

William Klem leaves his artistic originality.

Lawrence Ghezzi leaves his all around good humor and amiability to Vincent Biunno.

George Mitchell leaves a long string of broken appointments and important engagements.

To the Science Department we leave Barringer still in one piece.

To the History Department we leave for our followers a world of tomorrow.

Lois Arliss leaves her lovely charm to any other sweet maid usually found knitting on Saturday night.

Edgar Brownlee leaves his sunny disposition.

We all leave Barringer High School sadly bereft of its wits, geniuses, athletes and its scholars.

For the next experiment obtain bottle of H_2S . Gently take cover from bottle. Cautiously smell contents of bottle. Replace cover quickly. Repeat same to make sure the smell was what you thought it was If you aren't sure by now, you never will be!

When bell rings, dump all material in drawer, ask Miss Tunstead to lock drawer, obtain an excuse for your extra period and run to Room 31 to work on Year Book.

CHEM HITS by C. LAKE—the mad chemist.

Have Miss Tunstead unlock drawer with duplicate of key you forgot.

First if no clean test tubes are left, clean the test tubes that you forgot to clean the last time.

Scrub nicely and hang on test tube rack to dry. Find the place in the manual but do not read. This helps to make the lesson more exciting.

Before dissolving sulphur in CS_2 , hold match near CS_2 to be sure that it is inflammable. Quickly reach for fire extinguisher and extinguish.

While partner melts some sulphur proceed to inspect laboratory record.

When partner yells for help, gather information from fellow chemists (?), return to partner

(now in a state of turmoil) and relieve.

Valedictory

Autumn—

Crisp, red, golden,
Blown by wings of winter,
Waiting and impatient.
We in 1935—
Bright, shining,
Urged by ambition,
Yearning and eager.

Winter—

Triumphant, her crystals
White with wonder,
Swift as a fairy.
Cupid's arrows
Sad delight,
Pains of laughter
Flowing dances, youth in swing.

Spring—

Softly budding.
Flickering sun dust,
April showers, tulips blooming.

Summer—

Walls ivied by seasons.
Sailing lilies,
Warm confidence, old friends.
The last June—
Excited hope.
Caps and gowns, tomorrow calls,
Outward roads.

This Truth Is Eternal

Three centuries have passed since Cervantes observed:

"Diligence is the mother of good fortune."

Time has not diminished the significance of this thought.

The world still places high value on the youth who possesses the twin virtues of industry and enthusiasm.
